EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Dennis Schlemmer on December 27, 2005.

2. The application has been amended as follows:

In the claims:

Claim 1, line 13, the word "slot" has been changed to --notch--.

The above change was done to provide proper antecedent basis.

Claims 16, 18 and 20, lines 3 and 4, the sentence " , and said alignment notch is located in aligned relation to an elongated end of the cross slot" has been deleted.

The above change was done since the language " , and said alignment notch is located in aligned relation to an elongated end of the cross slot" is considered new matter and is beyond the scope of the instant invention as currently disclosed.

Claim 19, line 3, the phrase "said, nozzle body having an alignment opening" has been changed to -- , said nozzle body being formed with an alignment recess--.

Claim 19, line 4, the word --body-- has been inserted after the first and second instance of the phrase "said nozzle" and the word "opening" has been changed to --recess--.

The above changes were done since the language in claim 19, lines 3 and 4, "said nozzle body having an alignment opening extending into said nozzle" was considered new matter and was beyond the scope of the instant invention as currently disclosed. The language as amended is now consistent with the specification as disclosed and as shown in Figure 2.

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claims 1-7, 9, 15 and 16: The prior art did not teach or suggest a spraying system for discharging a flat spray pattern as claimed by the applicant, specifically a spraying system comprising the spray nozzle having an alignment notch extending along an outer surface of the spray nozzle, the locating pin being arranged on the spray gun and the alignment notch being arranged on the spray nozzle such that when the spray nozzle is mounted on the discharge end of the spray gun in a predetermined orientation the locating pin extends into the alignment slot and the alignment notch provides an external visual observation to a user of the spray gun of the orientation of a flat spray pattern to be discharged from the spray nozzle during usage of the spray gun, together in combination with the other claimed features of applicant's invention.

4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claims 8, 10, 17 and 18: The prior art did not teach or suggest a spray nozzle as claimed by the applicant, specifically a spray nozzle comprising the nozzle body having an alignment notch extending in a longitudinal direction of the spray nozzle along an outer surface of the body, the alignment notch being arranged in a predetermined orientation relative to the discharge orifice for providing an external visual observation to a user of the spray nozzle of the orientation of a flat spray pattern to be discharged from the spray nozzle, together in combination with the other claimed features of applicant's invention.

5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claim 11: The prior art did not teach or suggest a spraying system as claimed by the applicant, specifically a spraying system comprising the spray nozzle having an alignment notch extending along an outer surface of the spray nozzle a majority of the length of the spray nozzle, wherein the locating pin is arranged on the spray gun and the alignment notch is arranged on the spray nozzle such that when the spray nozzle is mounted on the discharge end of the spray gun in a predetermined orientation the locating pin extends into the alignment slot, together in combination with the other claimed features of applicant's invention.

6. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claim 12: The prior art did not teach or suggest a spraying system as claimed by the applicant, specifically a spraying system comprising the spray nozzle having an alignment notch extending along an outer surface of the spray nozzle to an inlet end of the spray nozzle, wherein the locating pin is arranged on the spray gun and the alignment notch is arranged on the spray nozzle such that when the spray nozzle is mounted on the discharge end of the spray gun in a predetermined orientation the locating pin extends into the alignment slot, together in combination with the other claimed features of applicant's invention.

7. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claim 13: The prior art did not teach or suggest a spray nozzle as claimed by the applicant, specifically a spray nozzle comprising a nozzle body having an alignment notch extending in a longitudinal direction of the spray nozzle along an outer surface of the nozzle body a majority of the length of the spray nozzle, the alignment notch being arranged in a predetermined orientation relative to the discharge orifice, together in combination with the other claimed features of applicant's invention.

8. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claim 14: The prior art did not teach or suggest a spray nozzle as claimed by the applicant, specifically a spray nozzle comprising a nozzle body having an alignment notch extending in a longitudinal direction of the spray nozzle along an outer surface of the nozzle body to an inlet end of the spray nozzle, the alignment notch being arranged in a predetermined orientation relative to the discharge orifice, together in combination with the other claimed features of applicant's invention.

9. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance of claims 19-21: The prior art did not teach or suggest a spray nozzle as claimed by the applicant, specifically a spray nozzle comprising a nozzle body being formed with an alignment recess extending into the nozzle body and visible from a front end of the nozzle body, the alignment recess being arranged in a predetermined orientation relative to the discharge orifice for providing an external visual observation to a user of the spray nozzle of the orientation of a flat spray pattern to be discharged from the spray nozzle discharge orifice, together in combination with the other claimed features of applicant's invention and wherein the phrase "an alignment recess extending into the nozzle body" is considered to define the alignment recess extending into the outer surface of the spray nozzle body as shown in Figure 2.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
